EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

Concordia University - Nebraska

Concordia University, Nebraska's agricultural science program offers a broad, general approach to learning about the industry without having to specialize in one area. You'll learn the four main concepts in agriculture—agribusiness, animal science, food science and plant science—through a Christ-centered, Lutheran perspective that will equip you to be a responsible steward of God's creation. With one-in-four jobs in Nebraska relating to agriculture, this program will prepare you for your future in ag through internships and hands-on projects. Learn more about the program at cune.edu/agscience.

Allied Cooperative

Allied Cooperative has a long and proud history of serving farmers in West Central Wisconsin. With roots that date back to 1918, our co-op was formed when a group of farmers joined together in order to gain greater purchasing power and maximize potential for success in their farming operations. We take that legacy seriously.

Today Allied Cooperative has operations in Adams, Arcadia, Blair, Galesville, Mauston, Mindoro, Plainfield, Plover, Tomah, West Salem and Wisconsin Rapids. We provide a wide variety of products and services including agronomy, feed, grain, LP and refined fuels, auto parts, hardware, tires and convenience stores.

Allied Cooperative proudly supports the communities it serves, including FFA which grows the future of agriculture. If you're looking for a future in agriculture, we're looking for you. Visit us on the web at www.allied.coop.

Equity Cooperative Livestock Sales Association

Equity currently operates 11 livestock auction markets located in Wisconsin and one in Iowa. In addition, Equity has collection points in Ettrick, Wisconsin and Menominee, Michigan, and has a hog marketing center in Arlington, Wisconsin.

As a federated cooperative, headquartered in Baraboo, all of Equity Cooperative Livestock Sales Association's common stock is owned by 34 local shipping associations. These shipping associations are the link between the parent cooperative and the patron members.

As we look to the future of agriculture, our board of directors is dedicated to helping today's youth become tomorrow's leaders. Equity supports the Wisconsin FFA Foundation and provides college and technical college scholarships every year. We believe the future in agriculture is with our youth. Supporting today's youth in their future agricultural goals is important.

Equity donates to the FFA SAE grants, FFA scholarships, and to the Wisconsin FFA Foundation Equity endowment. Equity, its employees and members, are very active in youth activities at both the state and community levels.

Equity works as a team to provide our members with the value and service they deserve. We are committed to helping producers in the marketing, managing and financing of their agricultural businesses. Equity values our patron members and welcomes their input.

Equity believes that members of yesterday and today possess the same goal; to derive at an equitable price for the livestock they produce. Equity Cooperative will continue to improve on the services we provide and stay committed to our unchanging cooperative principles that have helped build this cooperative.

USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service

NRCS is committed to helping farmers and private landowners care for their land, use it productively, and excel as stewards for the future. We promote everything from practices that manage excess nutrients and waste on farms, to practices that promote soil health. NRCS Wisconsin's team has 240 employees in over 60 offices across the state. We're in every county working locally with producers to help put conservation on the ground. Our passion of "Helping People Help the Land" is derived from stewardship of the land and the natural resource benefits we all enjoy as a result. Visit our website for more information about our Earth Team Volunteer Program. To apply for full-time NRCS job openings, create a profile on www.usajobs.gov and sign up for NRCS Wisconsin updates.

Wisconsin Agri-Business Association

The next time you hear of the Wisconsin Agri-Business Association (WABA), we want you to think of COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS. While the purpose of WABA is to provide educational, communications, regulatory and legislative services to the agribusiness industries of Wisconsin, we also pride ourselves in helping to grow the future of agribusiness in Wisconsin as well. We do that by providing college scholarships to deserving students pursuing an education in agriculture.

This year alone, WABA will directly be presenting $20,000 in college scholarships (including $4,000 to the Wisconsin FFA Foundation) to students majoring in agriculture related fields of study, with plans of working in an agriculture related career after graduation. We will also be supporting one graduate student as well.

We support and believe in you!

Wisconsin Bankers Association

Grow your impact on the ag industry. Agricultural bankers at Wisconsin's 200+ community banks are trusted advisors to the ag businesses they serve. Use your ag business acumen to help producers across the state grow their business, plan for the future, and weather economic and financial storms.

Career opportunities for ag bankers range from lending and credit analysis roles to financial planning and investments. Some bankers also specialize in a particular commodity or market.

Learn more about available roles at www.wisbank.com/classifieds and get to know WBA's Agricultural Section Board here: www.wisbank.com/about/sections/agricultural-bankers-section

Wisconsin Beef Council

If you've ever heard the Beef. It's What's for Dinner slogan, you have experienced an example of the Beef Checkoff Program. Here in Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Beef Council is the producer-led organization funded by the $1.00 per head checkoff on all cattle sold in the state. Half of the dollar remains in Wisconsin for local beef promotion, education and research programs supporting Wisconsin's $2.1 billion beef industry. The other half of the dollar is forwarded to the Cattlemen's Beef Board for national programs.

Programs that the Wisconsin Beef Council offers include farm tours for dietitians and culinary students to understand beef/dairy farming, grants for high school family & consumer science teachers to purchase beef for preparation in the classroom, social media and digital advertising to millennials, nutrition education on the value of beef in a healthy diet, and monthly television news programs teaching viewers how to prepare beef.

Wisconsin Corn

Wisconsin Corn serves the state's corn growers through the Wisconsin Corn Promotion Board (WCPB) and Wisconsin Corn Growers Association (WCGA). The WCPB utilizes checkoff funds to develop and defend markets, fund research and provide education about corn and corn products. WCGA is a united, grassroots-driven member organization representing growers from across Wisconsin on important state and national agricultural issues in an effort to increase member profitability and opportunity.

In 2019, the Wisconsin Corn Foundation was founded to provide support for continuing education for new and next generation corn growers. For more information, visit wicorn.org.

Wisconsin Farm Service Agency

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that serves all farmers, ranchers and agricultural partners through the delivery of effective, efficient agricultural programs for all Americans. The agency provides America's farmers with a strong safety net through the administration of farm commodity and disaster programs. FSA's longstanding tradition of conserving the nation's natural resources continues through the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). The agency provides credit to agricultural producers who are unable to receive private, commercial credit, including special emphasis on beginning, minority and women farmers and ranchers, and purchases and delivers commodities for use in international humanitarian food programs.
